

DICE CREDIT DESCRIPTIONS

To earn your DICE certificate, you must earn a total of 10 DICE credits and turn in a DICE Tracking Form and final reflection paper by April 13, 2018. There are three levels of options to earn DICE credits listed below. Five of your 10 credits must be earned in Column A and you must complete at least one of the options listed in Column B OR Column C. The final two credits will be earned by writing a DICE reflection paper. Please visit our website to download a tracking form for your credits. Below you will find a detailed description of each credit-earning option. With the exception of the Community Kits option, you will track this program on your own and do not need to check-in with anyone before or after the program to earn DICE credit. If there is a sign-in sheet or BuckID card reader present at the event, please be sure to sign-in as your attendance at these events may be verified. All questions can be referred to the DICE Program Coordinator Alex Winkowski (Winkowski.1@osu.edu).

COLUMN A OPTIONS (1 CREDIT EACH)

- Attend a program hosted by the Student Life Multicultural Center staff

The Student Life Multicultural Center hosts many programs throughout the year. Some programs are hosted during particular heritage or awareness months (e.g. Latinx Heritage Month, Women's History Month, Asian Pacific American Heritage Month) while others are series of events over a period of time. To see what programs count for DICE credit, please visit our calendar (<http://mcc.osu.edu/events.aspx>). On the calendar, the events that count for DICE credit will have "(DICE)" after the title of the event. Please note that not every event hosted by the Multicultural Center will count for DICE. If there is an event that you are very interested in attending that you hope to count for DICE credit, please contact the DICE Program Coordinator. Another easy way to learn about upcoming programs is to sign up for any of the Multicultural Center newsletters (<http://mcc.osu.edu/newsletters/>) that are sent out every other week.

- Attend a Social Justice Engagement (SJE) Workshop

The Social Justice Engagement (SJE) team offers many workshops (called Buck-Identity workshops) throughout the year. These workshops can be requested by any Ohio State community members, including student organizations, sororities and fraternities, residence halls, and academic classes. If you attend one of these workshops through an organization you are in, this can count for a DICE credit. The facilitator should remind you about DICE at the end of the workshop. Additionally, there will be some of the SJE workshops offered as open sessions through the Multicultural Center. These will be listed on our calendar (<http://mcc.osu.edu/events.aspx>). On the calendar, the events that count for DICE credit will have "(DICE)" after the title of the event. Another easy way to learn about upcoming workshops is to sign up for the Social Justice Engagement and other Multicultural Center newsletters (<http://mcc.osu.edu/newsletters/>) that are sent out every other week. If you are interested in bringing a workshop to you, please visit our website (<http://mcc.osu.edu/education-and-training/buck-identity-workshops/>) for more information and to access the request form.

- Attend an Alonso Family Dialogue Series program

The Alonso Family Dialogue Series is a series of events hosted by the Social Justice Engagement team and often facilitated by students in the Sustained Dialogue student organization. These events are dialogic in nature and are meant to bring individuals together to learn about new perspectives, educate others about their own perspective, and deepen their understanding about the world around them. These events might involve watching a documentary or listening to a guest speaker. Visit our website \(http://mcc.osu.edu/education-and-training/alonso-family-dialogue-series/\) for updates about the programs that fall under this series or visit our calendar (see above for calendar details).

- Attend an Advocates for Inclusion and Diversity through Education (AIDE) meeting

AIDE is a student organization housed in the Multicultural Center. They meet every Thursday at 8pm in the Alonso Family Room (in the Multicultural Center). Each meeting is dedicated to hosting a workshop, educational program, or having a dialogue about a social justice topic. This often involves reading an article or watching a video as a group and then discussing it. AIDE is always open to new members, so feel free to attend multiple meetings if you are interested. AIDE members are also trained in facilitating SJE workshops if you want to gain facilitation experience. Visit AIDE's website \(http://mcc.osu.edu/get-involved/a-i-d-e/\) to contact an executive board member or to view the upcoming meeting topics.

- Complete a Community Kits reflection journal

This option cannot be counted towards DICE credit more than once. Community Kits are an online resource the Multicultural Center offers. Although they are designed to be programs that individuals can host on their own, for DICE they are meant to be used as a tool for individual self-reflection. To get started, visit the Community Kits website \(http://mcc.osu.edu/education-and-training/community-kit-project/\). You will see four categories of Community Kits in the left column (LGBTQ, Race, Class and Poverty, Feminism and Gender). On each category's page, you will find several links to articles or videos, each with a set of discussion questions attached. Pick one of the articles or videos that sounds interesting to you and in a journal entry response, please answer the questions under the link to that article or video. In addition to the listed questions, please answer the following: What did you learn from this community kit? What questions do you still have about the topic? What resources exist at Ohio State or in Columbus to help you learn more about this topic? Your response should be around one page in length, 12-point font. To earn credit for this option, e-mail your journal response to DICE Program Coordinator Alex Winkowski (Winkowski.1@osu.edu).

COLUMN B OPTIONS (2 CREDITS EACH)

- COLUMN B: Attend an entire Open Doors training session

Open Doors is a four-hour bias awareness and prevention program offered by the Office of Student Life and the Multicultural Center. These trainings are sometimes offered in two two-hour sessions or a full four-hour session. To earn DICE credit, you must have attended all four hours of the program. To find more information about upcoming Open Doors trainings or to request a training for an organization you are in, please visit the Open Doors website \(http://opendoors.osu.edu/\).

- COLUMN B: Attend an entire LGBTQ Safe Zone training session

The Safe Zone project aims to create a more welcoming and more inclusive campus environment, to strengthen community, and to encourage networking among faculty, staff, and students toward the goal of supporting the diverse individuals and communities with minoritized sexual and/or gender identities.

To find more information about upcoming Safe Zone trainings, please visit the Safe Zone website (<http://mcc.osu.edu/education-and-training/lgbtq-education-dialogues-programs/safe-zone-training/>).

- COLUMN B: Attend a minimum of six Sustained Dialogue meetings

Sustained Dialogue is a student organization supported by the Student Life Multicultural Center. They host community dialogues every other week and host dialogue-based programs in the off weeks. If you attend a minimum of six community dialogue meetings throughout the year, you will earn DICE credit. Be sure to sign in to the meeting each time so that your attendance can be verified. The off-week programs will mostly count for Column A credit and fall under the Alonso Family Dialogue Series. Visit Sustained Dialogue's website (<http://mcc.osu.edu/events.aspx/2017/9/11/58445>) for more information about upcoming meetings and programs.

- COLUMN B: Host or facilitate a program on a topic of your choosing

This option allows for flexible and creative program planning. You can host anything from a small program or dialogue in your residence hall to a larger program through the Multicultural Center. The program should center on a diversity or social justice topic that is of interest to you and you should plan for it to last approximately one hour. If you are interested in completing this option, you should e-mail DICE Program Coordinator Alex Winkowski (Winkowski.1@osu.edu) to receive further instructions and program requirements. You will earn credit after your program has been hosted.

- COLUMN B: Complete a special project with DICE Program Coordinator approval

If there is something missing from these options for you that you feel would enhance your experience with DICE, this option is for you. Perhaps you want to put together a social media campaign, organize a community service trip, or engage in self-reflection activities. If you have an idea of a project you'd like to do related to diversity and social justice, please e-mail DICE Program Coordinator Alex Winkowski (Winkowski.1@osu.edu) to set up a meeting to discuss your project.

COLUMN C OPTIONS (3 CREDITS EACH)

- COLUMN C: Earn a passing grade in ES HESA 2577

ES HESA 2577 Crossing Identity Boundaries: A Journey Towards Intercultural Leadership is a class offered as a partnership between the Student Life Multicultural Center and faculty in the Higher Education and Student Affairs department. Full-term and second-session offerings are available. This class counts for the Leadership Minor and a GE (Social Diversity in the U.S.). For more information about the course, visit our website (<http://mcc.osu.edu/education-and-training/crossing-identity-boundaries-es-hesa-25771/>).

- COLUMN C: Attend The Revolution social justice retreat

More information will become available about this retreat at a later time. Please check the Student Life Multicultural Center website for more information or contact Associate Director Angie Wellman (wellman.63@osu.edu) if you are interested in attending.
